Serving on a community bank's Board of Directors is a rewarding experience. But dramatic developments in the corporate governance landscape have wrought significant changes in directors' accountability.

To help you and your directors manage these changes, ABA prepared the 90-minute audio program "What Every Bank Director Should Know," developed by bankers for bank directors.

Hear our panel of experts as they explore the most important regulatory and examination issues facing community bank directors today.

Topics include:

- Sarbanes-Oxley and corporate governance
- Current supervisory concerns
- Risk management

- Duties of bank directors
- Taking a strategic view of your bank

A Great Value

Take advantage of this opportunity to give your directors and staff the latest need-to-know information on corporate governance rules and regulations affecting them. This ABA audio program is an easy, economical and effective way for directors and staff throughout your organization to receive consistent information about this important subject.

- Purchase an audio program for each director.
- Work the CD/tape into your director training plans as a program element for a bank director luncheon meeting or director retreat.
- Review the handouts included with the program at a future board meeting.
